Chapter 415: The Eternal Guardians of the Multiverse

The Angels of Eternal Vigilance

The multiverse, a vast expanse of countless realms and dimensions, was now safeguarded by the tireless efforts of centillions of angels. These beings, each adorned with two to four radiant wings, embodied the perfect balance of strength, loyalty, and purity. Sung Jin-Woo entrusted them with the sacred duty of guarding the multiverse, ensuring its peace and stability for all eternity.

Wings of Power and Immortality

The wings of these angels were not merely symbols of grace—they represented absolute power, immortality, and invincibility. The energy radiating from their wings shielded them from harm, making them impervious to both physical and magical attacks.

1. Two-Winged Angels: The most numerous, they patrolled the outer edges of the multiverse, ensuring no external threats could breach its boundaries.

2. Three-Winged Angels: Elite sentinels assigned to safeguard critical realms and dimensional gates.

3. Four-Winged Angels: The commanders of the guardians, leading their brethren with unwavering resolve and coordinating large-scale defenses.

Each angel's wings shimmered with divine energy, a testament to Sung Jin-Woo's creation. Their very presence inspired awe and reverence among the denizens of the multiverse.

Guardianship Beyond Compare

The angels’ sole purpose was to protect the multiverse from all conceivable threats. Unlike humanoid beings, who could be swayed by emotions, desires, or ambitions, the angels were pure manifestations of Sung Jin-Woo's will. They required no rest, no sustenance, and no distractions, allowing them to maintain eternal vigilance.

1. The Void Watchers: Assigned to the endless void, they patrolled the dark, empty expanses to ensure no eldritch horrors or ancient evils emerged.

2. The Abyssal Sentinels: Stationed at the edges of the abyss, these angels guarded the most treacherous and chaotic realms.

3. The Nexus Protectors: Tasked with overseeing the interconnected realms, ensuring the balance of power and preventing misuse of dimensional gateways.

A Unified Force

The sheer number of angels ensured that every realm, no matter how distant or obscure, was under constant protection. Each angel communicated seamlessly with others through a telepathic network powered by Sung Jin-Woo's divine energy. This allowed them to respond instantly to any threat, coordinating their actions with precision unmatched by any mortal army.

A Duty Reserved for the Divine

Sung Jin-Woo decreed that the duty of safeguarding the multiverse would rest solely upon the shoulders of the angels. The humanoid denizens, while powerful and capable, were to focus on their own growth, societies, and responsibilities within their realms.

1. Humanoid Beings' Role: Rather than engaging in constant battles, humanoid beings were encouraged to thrive in their domains, fostering progress, culture, and unity.

2. Angels' Purpose: With their invincibility and unwavering devotion, the angels were uniquely suited for the eternal task of guarding the multiverse.

A Timeless Vigil

As the guardians spread across the multiverse, their presence brought an era of unprecedented peace and security. Realms that once faced constant threats now flourished under the watchful eyes of the angels. Wars diminished, fear subsided, and civilizations began to reach heights they had never imagined.

Sung Jin-Woo watched over his creation with pride, knowing that the multiverse was in capable hands. The angels, with their radiant wings and eternal resolve, would ensure that no harm would ever befall his grand design.
